Detailed Action

Applicant's response to the restriction requirement submitted July 13, 2001 (Paper No. 5) is acknowledged.

Applicant's election therein of the invention of Group I, claims 1-7 in Paper No. 5 submitted July 13, 2001 is acknowledged.

Claims 8-14 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a non-elected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 5.

Claims 1-7 are examined on the merits herein.

Claim Objections

Claims 1 and 5 objected to because of the following informalities: The use of terms "include" and "including" in claims 1 and 5 is not seen to clearly indicate how the claims are intended to be limited, i.e., by the terms following "include" or "including", or the groups proceeding the terms "include" or "including". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Embase Abstract -272 in view of WPIDS abstracts -924 and -225, all references of record in parent application 08/738314, now USPN 6,133,251.

Art Unit: 1617

The Embase Abstract -272 teaches that triphasic estrogen/gestagen contraceptives are known in the art, see abstract. The claims differ primarily in that they are drawn to compositions and methods employing an estrogen, an estrogen in combination with a gestagen, an estrogen, and a placebo sequentially for specified periods of time. The WPIDS abstracts -924 teaches that the employment of estrogens (which may be natural) sequentially with a estrogen/gestagen combination in contraceptives is known.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to employ the estrogen and estrogen/gestagen combination preparations of the WPIDS abstracts -924 in a triphasic method and/or preparation varying the dose of estrogen administered at different times in the cycle, since the benefits of varying estrogen doses in this way were known in the art. Triphasic estrogen/gestagen preparations were known broadly in the art to be useful means of contraception, see WPIDS abstract -225. Note also that the employment of medroxyprogesterone as the gestagen component of a contraceptive regimen is well known, see WPIDS abstract -225. Variations or optimizations of the dosage regimen of compounds well known to be administered together sequentially and in combination, are considered within the skill of the artisan.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686

Art Unit: 1617

F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-7 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 3-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,133,251. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because Variations or optimizations of the dosage regimen of compounds well known to be administered together sequentially and in combination, are considered within the skill of the artisan.
